Jesuit Play Contest Held This Sunday At Evergreen

Five Jesuit Colleges are entered in the Maryland Province Jesuit One-Act Play Contest to be held this Sunday in Cohn Hall.

Loyola will be competing with Wheeling College, University of Scranton, Georgetown, and St. Josephs College of Philadelphia. Festivities will get under way at 8:15 P.M. Admission is $1.50 for the affair which is open to the public.

Backwoods Setting

Loyola's thespians will present a play entitled The Clod. The play has as its setting, the backwoods of the south during the Civil War. There, in a small shack, an elderly couple is hiding a northerner. Two members of a Confederate search party come upon the shack while searching for the northerner.

During the course of their search they become boisterous, but the old woman remains calm. When, however, one of the Confederates breaks a China cup which is a cherished antique, she becomes obsessed with rage and kills the two soldiers. With this, the play ends

Female Lead

Nancy Monroe of Mount St. Agnes College will play the part of the Clod, the only female role in the play. The remaining actors in the skit will be Bill Jenkins, Vince McCann, Dave McDonald, and Jim Molloy. The winning school will journey to the National Finals, held in New York City on Feb. 28.

This years contest is sponsored by the Masque and Rapier Society of which Fr. Scanlan is moderator.

Library Prepares For Book Week; Books Out

Books listed by the Catholic Library Association as The Best in Catholic Reading For Adults; 1960 were to be displayed by the Loyola College Library staff during Catholic Book Week, February 21-27. An investigation of the book shelves, however, disclosed that every copy of the approved books was already in circulation.

Borrowing Increases

An indication of the constantly increasing use of the Library is confirmed by circulation records for the fall term of 1959. Books borrowed for use at home totaled 7091, against 5934 in 1958 and 4750 in 1957, an increase of 49% in two years.

Over a thousand books were borrowed in each of these fields:

Hero Presentation At Feb. 24 Assembly

On Wednesday, February 24, the fourth in a series of students assemblies will be held in Cohn Hall, beginning at 1 p.m. The gathering will include a recognition of outstanding bravery and reports from the student activities.

Those seniors who were elected to the "Who's Who" national honor society are scheduled to receive testimonials of their membership in that organization.

Official recognition will also be given to the students who were on the Dean's List for the fall semester. This list includes all students who attained a grade of "B" or better in each of their subjects last term.

Award

The Carneige Hero Foundation will bestow its Hero Fund Award to a member of the freshman class. Making the presentation of a medal and a check for $250 will be Mr. William Pitcher, the national president of the Society of the War of 1812. It was this group which recommended the student for the award, given throughout the country for exemplary bravery.

Reports will then be given by the presidents of the various activities on the aims, accomplishments and future plans of their groups. Fr. Galvin says this will be done to give the student body a better understanding of the purpose of co-curricular activities, and he also hopes that these clubs will receive stronger support by more student participation in them.

Junior Prom On April 29

April 29, has been designated as the date for this years junior prom. The big event will be held at the Southern Hotel, with music being provided by the Johnny Moran Orchestra

There are still many details which have to be attended to, but in general everything is running smoothly. Tickets for the dance will go on sale March 1, and class president John Healy urges all juniors to get their tickets as soon as possible.

As of yet no official junior prom committee has been selected. Right now the four class officers and three section representatives are working on the plans. Any suggestions concerning the prom would be greatly appreciated.

"We want to have as many juniors as possible attend the dance," says Healy. "Anyone with questions should get in touch with myself, the other class officers, or your section representative."

BULLETIN: The Army has approved a revised ROTC curriculum to be implemented next school year. It revitalizes the basic course by eliminating 30 hrs. of crew served weapons, substitutes course in basic tactics, individual weapons and marksmanship course reduced from 25 to 15 hrs. Amer. Mil. Hist. course upped from 30 to 40. It reduces military subjects in advanced course by 90 hours. It authorizes substitution of college taught subjects for 45 hrs. in each year of advanced. Substitutions to be made from areas of science comprehension, general psych, effective communication, and pol. institutions and pol. development as approved by army advisory panel on ROTC.

Spot News

On Monday, Feb. 22, four freshmen, Ed Slawski, Ed Conhery, Tom Cosgrove, and Bill Everhardt will debate on the national topic at Fordham University.

Monday, February 22, is Washington's Birthday. No classes will be held.

On February 24, a speaker from the Army General Staff will talk on the views of the Army in reference to the major issues of National Security. This is the fourth in the series of lectures sponsored by the Military Science Department.

Tonight, the Loyola Rifle Team battles Catholic University. The match will be held in the new rifle range at 7 p.m.

For the past two years the Jesuit One-Act Play Contest had to be cancelled because of inclement weather. This year it will be held as scheduled.

Editorials

From a student body of over 700 men there were only three students observers present when the Student Council met last week in Xavier Lounge.

In the current school year the present Council has brought about the six day exam system that went into effect during the recent semester examinations, the reading of the names of absent students in class, provisions for taking extra courses without charge, a much needed budget for the Green and Grey Club, and the legalizing of card playing in the new student lounge.

Why, then, are the students apparently uninterested in the activities of their Student Council? Aside from apathy there are two primary reasons for lack of attendance at Council meetings.

First, how many students realize that they may attend Council meetings? We believe that a great number of men at Evergreen think that the Council meets behind closed doors. This is not so. The Council welcomes, in fact even encourages, students to attend its meetings.

The other reason is that the Council meets at 10:00 am. every Friday, one of the two "activity periods" on campus, when at least three other activities hold their own meetings and other students are watching "Mole" and his cohorts set new intramural records on the basketball court.

We, therefore, want to inform the student body that they are welcome to attend the Student Council meetings, and if they get a free period, we urge them to.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Sir:

Regarding the Council Notes in the Feb. 12 issue of the Greyhound, I disagree concerning the matter of posting the list of conditions and failures after all exams have been completed.

Since the student council is composed, to a large extent, of the better students in the school, they are probably all in favor of the proposal. Their only tensions would arise as to whether or not they would make the Dean's List, whereas (after looking at the many names on the recent list) for some students the results would mean their staying in college or not.

Ted Herget, '62

I would like to express great dismay over the article in the Greyhound Bulletin of Feb. 9.

The lounge is a place for the recreation of the students and it is not basically for study. If playing cards, chess, checkers are forms of recreation enjoyed by the students, then let us have them.

It is impossible to get each and every student to care for the lounge in the proper manner. Do not blast the entire student body for those few.

Actually the person who wrote the article has been goading the faculty and student body by his immature gossip and opinions. True, his bulletin stimulates the students to different discussions during the day, but so would the blowing up of the library building.

GREYHOUND SALUTES

Ed Metzbower

By HANK BECKER

As president of the Loyola Chapter of Alpha Sigma Nu, the Jesuit Honor Society, Ed Metzbower is presently occupied with a plan involving academic help for students free of charge. The new plan will consist of the tutoring of the underclassmen by the senior members of ASN.

Loyola High Grad.

Hailing from North Baltimore, the twenty-one year old senior graduated from St. Mary's Golvans and Loyola High School. At Blakefield Ed was the editor of the Quarterly, a member of the Student Council, and the Boosters Club.

"Dr. Weigman is one of my best teachers," says Ed. Due partly to his influence, Ed is planning to obtain his master's degree in physics from Purdue University after graduation.

Ed won a Knights of Columbus scholarship to Loyola and has made the dean's list several times. Among his extra-curricular activities, he is the Student Council Parliamentarian, a member of the Physics Club and for three years a member of the Greyhound staff.

Jazz fan

In addition to his heavy schedule,

the Watchdog

Unfortunately, the snow prevented the basketball team from shining last Saturday. There were rumors that this enabled the members to shine in other unexpected quarters. Well, they deserve the break in their tight and tension-filled schedule.

Much has been said about the conduct of a recently visiting student body at one of the games. Fairness necessitates us remembering that it is very often the few who make it look bad for the many.

If the person or persons unknown who entered our campus during the Mount game can give us one valid or reasonable use that they had for the various signs, aerials, etc., that were stolen, we will be more than happy to print it.

An electronics engineer has assured us that it is easier to hear a voice over the public address system when the music is turned off. Hint.

The chairs that have so far been donated to the Music Club came equipped with fold down portable kneelers. Although it could be said that the members place the various composers above the average man, we don't think their adoration goes so far as to require kneeling.

and activities, Ed's after school hours are spent working at the Research Institute of Advanced Studies. He especially enjoys listening to the progressive jazz of J. J. Thompson with a certain companion from NDC.

As a member of the Greyhound staff, Ed has had the steady assignment of reporting on the activities of the Student Council. The importance of such a position becomes more apparent in light of the poor student attendance at Council meetings (See Editorials), and, yet, general interest in what the Council is doing. Through Ed's efforts, this inquisitiveness was satisfied.

Sammy Diske Report II

While most of the student body was sleeping over the weekend, our roving correspondent, Sammy Diske was busily searching for any news worthy items for our avid readers. Here, in his own words, are a few.

"Due to the snow, the N.Y. Times was late since it arrives in sections and the prevailing bad weather held up some of the freight car loadings."

"Last Sunday night a car crashed through the railing of the North Avenue bridge. It was generally believed that he slid on the ice. However your ever alert reporter could neither slide (with much effort) nor determine anything but a straight set of tire tracks, with no evidence of locked or sliding wheels."

Students engage in "Friendly" snow-battle.

A.U.S.A. Sets Up By-Laws, Talks

The first set of by-laws has been officially adopted by the members of the Association of the United States Army at a recent meeting. This will enable the club's administration to be carried out according to an authoritative, written set of organizational rules.

The initial results of the group's activity has been the Lecture Series on Wed. in Cohn Hall.

Ed Murn goes up for rebound in Mount game.

GREYHOUND SPORTS

By ROL STURM

Greyhound Sports Editor

Lady Luck looked the other way last week when all three of Loyola's winter athletic teams dropped crucial contests on the same day. It all started in the afternoon as the Hound grapplers lost a 32-5 decision to American U., one of the toughest teams they have faced to date.

Saints Humble Hounds

Then come the crushing blow. Loyola's basketball team, after leading by sixteen points in the second half, dropped a 60-58 decision to, who else, the Mount.

Swimmers Perfect Season Marred

While this game was going on the then undefeated Hound swimmers were in the process of suffering their first loss of the season to A. U. Although the score of the meet was 60-35, the Hounds lost 22 points due to two decisions and a tenth of a second.

Hard Luck For P. Powley

Pete Powley equaled his opponent's time in the 50 and 100 yd. freestyle events, but was declared the loser in both events on a decision. In the 400 yd. medley relay the Hounds were beaten by only a tenth of a second to climax a tough and discouraging meet.

Carey And Parr Drop Close Ones

The wrestling match against American U. was also marked by several close decisions. Charley Carey lost his first match of the season in the 167 lb. class by the narrow margin of 3-2. And Bucky Parr, another of the squad's outstanding wrestlers, also lost his match by a one point margin. Tom Iampieri provided the only Loyola victory by pinning his man.

Murn, Heagney And Sneeringer

The Hounds loss at the hands of Mt. St. Mary's was a bitter pill to swallow, but Murn, Heagney and Sneeringer played outstanding games.

Swimmers Home Tomorrow; Test Cath. U. at 2:30

As the aquamen of Loyola put the finishing touches on a fine year, there is much to look back upon. The team which has consistently been one of our finest has been doing well all year and will continue to do so in its final meet and in the open tournament.

Face C.U. Tomorrow

Their next meet is against Catholic University on February the 20th at 2:30. This will be the last home appearance of the team before travelling to Gallaudet the following weekend for the Mason-Dixon tournament.

Final Meet

This is their final meet and certainly deserves a large enthusiastic crowd to root them on to victory. The "hounds" will probably be favored to take this meet; but in swimming, as in any other sport, anything can happen.

The "hounds" have announced a new captain. He is Peter Powley who will succeed George Krapp. The great amount of outside work forced George to give up this post as well as the team for the remainder of the year.

By PÉTE COOK
Ass't Sports Editor

Tomorrow the Greyhounds travel to Western Maryland to take part in a new Mason-Dixon Conference setup of its tournament system.

Two Divisions

Instead of the first eight teams of the conference making the tournament, the M-D has divided its conference into two divisions North and South.

In the Southern division, which consists of eight teams, all teams participate in the playoff, with the first team playing the last, the second playing the seventh, etc, and the winners going to the conference tournament at Catholic University.

Hounds in Northern

In the Northern Division, which has seven members, the first automatically makes the tourney and the next six vie for the three remaining berths.

The Reitzmen, who are currently third in the standing, are in contention for the runnerup spot at this writing. Other teams in the Northern Division are: Mt. St. Mary's, Johns Hopkins, Towson State Teachers, University of Baltimore, Western Maryland and Washington College.

Lost To Mount

Last Wednesday the Green and Gray dropped the second half of their annual series with Mt. St. Mary's. Mike Sneeringer and John Heagney provided the spark as the hosts rolled to a 9-point bulge at halftime. However Sneeringer's jump shots and Heagney's sharp drives were nullified by a second-half Mountaineer outburst which proved victorious for the visitors by 60-58.

The Tournament

On Thursday Feb. 25, Friday the 26, and Saturday Feb. 27, the M-D conference tournament will be held. The Evergreeners last won the affair in 1953, while Mt. St. Mary's won it the following four, and A. U. has reigned the last two.

Grapplers Oppose Catholic U. In Last Home Meet

The last home match of the wrestling season will be fought between Catholic University and the Hounds at 2:30 on Saturday the twentieth. Although this meet will be a close one, the team is optimistic. Up to this time lack of experience has hampered the team.

The Mason-Dixon Tournament will be held Friday and Saturday, the twenty-sixth and twenty-seventh, at Gallaudet College.

Buck Parr and Charley Carey are Loyola's best contenders for medals. Bill Iampieri, Loyola's 127 man is a serious threat in his weight class. Tom Iampieri, who pinned his man last week against American University, is also a fine contender. Charley Graham has more experience than many of the Hound's other boys and will make a fine account of himself. Mike Garrett, who has wrestled men ten to thirty pounds heavier than himself all season, is a real threat in the 191 class.

Intramural Items

By Matthew Schwientek

The following is a true account taken from the annals of the world of Intramurals. No names have been changed to protect the innocent.

Brad McNally was crouched for the opening jump of the intramural basketball season. The referee tossed the ball in the air! Brad jumped! He didn't even get his hand on the ball!

Why? Possibly because Brad is only 5'4" and his opponent is 6'4".

When asked why he did not win the jump, Brad calmly said, "My baseball hat got in the way and I couldn't see the ball." This is a plausible excuse because everyone knows if you do not wear your baseball hat, just right it gets in the way.

Such is the strategy of intramural basketball and of the Jocks of whom Brad is a member.

It apparently paid off as the Jocks went on to win 37-32. John Howe scored 11 points for the winners.

The champion Hoodles defeated the Eightballs 39-29 as Dave Gardiner dropped in 11 points for the champs.

The Castoffs were defeated by the Handy Six 41-30. Two 14 point efforts by Nick Kollman and Tom Gentner sank the Castoffs into the Losers Bracket.
